2STROKEBUZZ SPECIAL BANDCAMP EDITION

ADVERTISEMENT: WE HAVE SOME OF THESE T-SHIRTS
IN YELLOW. $20ppd. ILLNOISE@2STROKEBUZZ.COM

So hey, hi there! I'm Bryan and this is 2strokebuzz. The 20th anniversary of our first issue is coming up (January 2016) and we haven't put out an actual issue in eighteen years, so it's about time, right? This is issue #5, really our fourth issue because #4 was never printed (look for it in our coffee table book, coming soon). This one's maybe not quite up to the standard of the old days, but we wanted to get something out for PVSC Band Camp, just to get back in the swing of things. Our legacy is pretty disappointing, and this thin volume of dumb stream-of-consciousness ramblings isn't going to change that. But if this makes you giggle once or twice while flicking earwigs off your sleeping bag on Sunday morning, making you momentarily forget your hangover, it was all worth it. Thanks for indulging me, have fun at the rally and come visit 2strokebuzz.com and/or on Facebook, maybe we can keep the fun going. -Bb

WORST PARENTS EVER

No one likes a mommyblogger, I sure don't, so I'll keep this short, but it's cool to see so many kids at Band Camp this year. I know that makes some people uncomfortable, but rest assured, at least in our case, we know what they're in for. They'll learn some new words. They'll see things they can't unsee. If we're lucky, they'll only need a few Band-Aids, not urgent care or a chopper. Or therapy later.

Most people our age were raised pretty free-range, and I don't know about you but some of my favorite childhood memories involve my parents and booze. It builds character. Our kids are already smarter than I am. They'll be OK. Maybe. Enjoy yourselves, do your thing. If there's a voice in your head telling you what you're doing is inappropriate, it might not be wrong, but it's not my voice.

SCOOTER SIGHTINGS

Remember when we used to lose our shit on Usenet whenever we saw an liquor ad with a Lambretta in it? Or a Santa-on-a-scooter Christmas ornament? Or Darlene trying to talk John Goodman into buying her a P200 on Roseanne? Tracy Ball ran that pretty great site scooterswag.com for ages, she was still posting there about a year ago. Now we all have storage bins full of Vespa toys that we won't let our kids play with, and every consumer product known to mankind has had a scooter slapped on it at some point. But the 1987 Tom Conti and Catherine Oxenberg Roman Holiday remake is still not on YouTube. What's up with that?

THIS GUY

This Guy was blowing my mind at Band Camp last year. Every time I saw him, he looked like he was having the time of his life, and that made me happy. At some point Saturday night, I hugged him and probably creeped him out. I was kind of drunk/emo on Saturday night. Sorry, This Guy. Hope to see you lapping the field and potatowinning again!

This 'zine was designed back in 2015 as a Bandcamp giveaway but I ran out of time to print it and I never got around to sharing it. Now it's 2020, a weird, scary, and depressing year. We're all realizing that there are a lot of simple pleasures that we take for granted, but Bandcamp isn't one of them. I'm certain we all drive home on Sunday realizing how special and important it is, with the promise of the next one keeping us going, as we count down the months and days until we see our friends again.

Please throw a few bucks to the Toronto Band Fathers to keep this magical football field waiting for us for years to come.
